

Time in the Program:

Most students will spend approximately 12 months in the program, around one academic year. Students can enter the program on any day after their arrival and will finish the program after 12 months of entry. They will then enter a mainstream class.

Near the end of their learning in the program we will arrange for you to visit and enrol your child at your nearest school or the school of your choice.

Students and families in the IELP are involved in all school events and have been heavily represented. IELP classes have participated in many different excursions to broaden their real life experiences.

Aim of the Program

The Hampstead Primary School Intensive English Language Program (IELP) was established in 2012 and offers migrant students to South Australia the Australian curriculum with a focus on the English language. The aim of this program is to prepare the students with a non-English speaking background for schooling in the Australian mainstream classes.

They are taught all the subjects in the curriculum but specialist teachers of the IELP use EALD strategies and methodologies. Newly arrived students of primary school age are catered for in small classes (up to 15 students) within the school.
